
METHODOLOGY USED BY IN PREPARING THE DISCLOSURE OF SUPPORT AND SERVICES PROVIDED TO PATIENT
ORGANIZATIONS IN 2025

1. INTRODUCTION

Ipsen's goal is to work for and with patients. To achieve this, in addition to making available to them all our science and innovative medicines, we develop awareness and educational projects within the different therapeutic areas in which we are present. These initiatives are part of our commitment to patients, their families and society.

Patients are the pillar of healthcare. From prevention and awareness, through research and development, regulatory and evaluation processes, to service design and measurement of results. Patients bring forth their knowledge and experience of living with a condition and patient representatives ensure the voices of their communities are heard, sharing how the disease affects them, what is really important to them, their families and their carers.

Appropriate embedding of the patient perspective throughout the medicine's life cycle has the potential to co-create and co-develop better healthcare management and patient outcomes, providing greater efficiency in healthcare and patient care.

Ipsen discloses annually information about the patient organizations to which it provides support or with whom it has engaged to provide contracted services. As a member of EFPIA, in line with the EFPIA Code of Practice, Ipsen discloses this information at a European level in both its local and corporate websites.

This transparency initiative aims to generate credibility and trust in the pharmaceutical industry as a whole and in the collaborations that exist between pharmaceutical companies and patient organizations. It informs about the different forms of collaboration that exist between pharmaceutical companies and patient organizations and demonstrates its interest in this being carried out respecting the strictest ethical principles of professionalism and responsibility.

2. DEFINITIONS

Patient Organisation (PO): non-for-profit legal person/entity (including the umbrella organisation to which it belongs), mainly composed of patients and/or caregivers, that represents and/or supports the needs of patients and/or caregivers.

3. KIND OF SUPPORT AND SERVICES PROVIDED TO POs

With the aim of increasing disease awareness and education, as well as helping to improve patient care and health-related quality of life, Ipsen can both support patient organization's activities or contract their expert services upon a related legitimate need. Context is always non-promotional without mention of any specific products. Ipsen can support a patient organization to organize disease awareness activities and pathology related educational events. These have the aim of increasing awareness of a disease or diseases, favoring prevention and early detection for improved patient outcomes and to provide health educational information on that disease and its management. Ipsen may also contract patient organization representatives as speakers to reflect the patients' experience living with a medical condition or as consultants to obtain their expert advice on unmet patient needs and expectations as well as experience living with a medical condition to inform Ipsen's strategy. Appropriate inclusion of the patient's perspective across the life cycle of the medicine has the potential to co-create and co-develop better health care management and patient outcomes, delivering greater efficiencies in healthcare utilization.
